

Tab 1

1. Media Analysis Insights (1-2 minutes) 4 points

- Briefly introduce your social issue and the range of media you analyzed (memes, graffiti, editorial cartoons, song lyrics, film, print ads, etc.)
- Share the most significant patterns or trends you discovered in how different media forms approach your issue
- Discuss which media forms you found most effective or problematic in addressing your social issue and why
- Discuss any other takeaways or epiphanies regarding your cause and how it was handled by the media

Timmy

Introduced the Social Issue and what his mission was. Personal Connection and Reasoning

The media is used to illustrate the impact of poverty and the number of people who suffer from it. It is biased in its representation of the issue,

Emotional patterns in advocating for poverty. People suffering from the issue get mocked often

Ads were most effective as they show how people in poverty get a bad wrap and address the problem through text and imagery

Patterns: Emotions/Covered in Dirt, Media is comparing issues and choices, Mockery (Higher power people make fun of lower class people)

3 points

Keya

Becoming a growing issue due to mass online communication in the current times

All the media talk about the social impact of the issue, some use emotions and are sad, some use humor and mock the idea

Song lyrics and Graffiti were most effective, showing the issue as a real issue with real impact

The political cartoon was also effective as it exposes the bully behind the screen

Least effective is the meme, as it spreads fast and gets molded into a normal meme rather than advocacy

2. Webpage Design Reflection (1-2 minutes) 4 points

- Explain how your analysis of existing media informed the design of your webpage
- Discuss specific design choices you made and the why you chose the aesthetics of your webpage

Timmy

Brighter text contrasted with darker images and a neutral tone, dark and dirty, and bold colors, many images take place outside

4 points (lack of notes due to technological issues for approx. 15 seconds during this section)

Keya

Title page has a dark image with a teen on her phone in the dark to make it emotional and clear, similarly to the advertisement → darker tones and low light images → fear, social anxiety

Each section is separate, so the audience can understand where each text and image comes from

Readable but still serious

Keya

Before the project, she saw the issue as simply rude comments online

Now sees how it causes anxiety and loneliness

The media treats it as a joke, and people don't take it seriously.

When you look deeper at it, you can see the true human and emotional impact

She is more aware of her tone and how her words can hurt others, even when they don't mean it

4. Reflection: Once you are done presenting, please submit a short reflection to this assignment portal stating how you think your presentation went and what grade you deserve out of 10.

Reflection (Jared)

My presentation went as well as it could have gone while being on Zoom. I was able to scroll through my webpage while jumping around it to support my speech. My information was thorough and to the point, expressing what I learned and completed, as well as how my thought processes changed during this project. I hit all of the criteria and presented better than I would have if I were to stand up in front of the class in person.
