

Rhetorical Situation:

Acceptance rates at SJSU have risen resulting in limited parking availability in each of the 3 parking garages.

The audience for this meme is the commuters of SJSU who struggle to find parking.

The purpose is to critique the limited amount of parking spaces that SJSU provides.

Rhetorical Appeals:

This meme appeals to ethos because it shows your experience with the poor parking availability while also demonstrating that you are a SJSU student who relates to the poor parking situation.

This also appeals to pathos because it represents the feelings of frustration and relatability that other students may have.

Visual:

The image shows a light up brain which represents happiness, showcasing that one is ready to start the day in a positive perspective. The next image represents a poorly functioning brain demonstrating that when faced with an obstacle, one falls into a state of depression and anger.

Success:

This method is relatively effective as it not only showcases both appropriate images that SJSU students can relate to, but also provides text relating to the image that SJSU students not only find funny but also relative to their current parking situations.